DELIVERING FOR OUR MEMBERS

Education

IGPTN's signature national Workshops are the heart of our network - bringing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander General Practice and Rural Generalist trainees (registrars) together for face-to-face connection, education and cultural strengthening.

Connection and community sit at the centre of IGPTN's philosophy. Twice each year, trainees gather in rotating locations across Australia for our Workshops. Each Workshop is filled with engaging activities - from medical education sessions, exam preparation and clinical skills development, to yarning circles, networking and cultural experiences.

Throughout the year, we run online exam preparation and clinical reasoning study groups using peer mentoring and fellow leaders to guide and support trainees.

Through the years, IGPTN has proudly supported many trainees on their journey to achieving fellowship - a testament to the power of connection, culture and community.

Members

IGPTN is a vibrant, member-led network created by and for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander doctors at every stage of their General Practice and Rural Generalist journey.

We proudly bring together:

- Medical students exploring a future in general practice or rural generalism
- Prevocational (junior) doctors building skills and confidence
- GP and RG trainees (registrars) navigating training, exams and placements
- GP and RG fellows leading, mentoring and shaping the future of our profession

IGPTN runs activities and attends key industry events throughout the year to support the growth of IGPTN membership and to engage with its members and Fellows.

Leadership and Advocacy

IGPTN aims to elevate the voices of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander trainees and fellows through all stages of their GP/RG journey. We promote and represent our members nationally, increase IGPTN's profile to influence key decision makers and foster leadership through story-telling, visibility and strong role models.

SPONSORSHIPS & DONATIONS

Your generosity will support IGPTN to strengthen and grow our support for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander GPs and RGs across Australia. Sponsorship and donations directly contribute to the delivery of programs and activities that strengthen connection, cultural safety, education and professional development for our members.

Your support will help IGPTN to:

- Deliver two annual face-to-face national Workshops - the heart of our network
- Increase the number of trainees who can attend workshops
- Recognise and celebrate newly Fellowed Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander GPs/RGs
- Deliver advanced education and professional development sessions
- Support Clinical Reasoning Study Groups that build confidence and clinical capability
- Facilitate Exam Preparation Groups to support trainees through their training journey
- Deliver member engagement activities
- Provide cultural immersion opportunities that strengthen leadership and culture
- Strengthen IGPTN's capacity to continue advocating for and supporting the next generation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander GPs and RGs.

ABOUT IGPTN

Indigenous General Practice Trainee Network (IGPTN) is a national network dedicated to growing, supporting and strengthening the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander General Practice workforce across Australia.

Our core purpose is to increase the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander General Practitioners (GPs) and Rural Generalists (RGs), ensuring communities have access to culturally safe healthcare delivered by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander doctors.

At the heart of our work are our signature workshops and programs, which provide culturally safe spaces for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander GP and RG trainees (registrars) to come together for connection, mentorship, professional development and cultural strengthening.

These programs are central to how we support trainees throughout their journey into fellowship and beyond, helping to build confidence, resilience, leadership and a strong sense of community within the profession.

Through our programs, advocacy and professional development opportunities, we support the next generation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander medical students and junior doctors to pursue careers in General Practice and Rural Generalism.

IGPTN recognises that growing the workforce is not only about recruitment, but also lifelong retention and support. That is why we are committed to creating a connected community for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander GP/RG fellows - supporting wellbeing, leadership, professional growth and long-term career sustainability across every stage of practice. Together, we are building a future where Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander doctors are supported, visible and leading change in communities across the country.
